Asquith Girls High School’s International Women’s Day Breakfast (IWDB) is a major annual school event that this year recognises the importance of gender parity. This breakfast is a wonderful opportunity for the community to come together and appreciate progress for women and pledge for parity. Proceeds from the breakfast will go to Mahboba’s Promise, a charity that supports less fortunate children in Afghanistan including girls at our sister school in the Panjshir Valley. Mahboba Rawi continues to inspire and influence our students and staff every day through her charity work. The International Women’s Day Breakfast has been an important student organised event at Asquith Girls for over ten years. With your support, young women can continue to be inspired to achieve greater heights through independence.
